If you would like a chance to win a FREE COPY, answer these four questions and email your answers to info@walksinauckland.com .

Kauri dieback has become a threat to New Zealand's native trees. We don't have to go far to see them in Auckland – so we hope that they can survive.

1. What reserve in central Auckland would you visit to see a 150 year old kauri tree?
2. What is the name of the reserve that has a giant kauri tree on Auckland's North Shore?
3. Where would you go to see Auckland City's only waterfall?
4. If you had to take a first time visitor for a walk in Auckland, where would you go and why?

Entries close 5pm Sunday 15th September 2013.
The winner will be announced in our October newsletter.

“Urban Bush” is part of a series of books encouraging residents and visitors alike to discover on foot the magnificence and uniqueness of Auckland, New Zealand.

In this edition, we take you on twelve circular short walks through urban pockets of native bush. These walks have been selected to give you a good sampling of the diversity of the New Zealand bush from Kauri trees to Nikau palms and you will be astounded by the beauty which can be experienced.

12 walks – Parnell, Blockhouse Bay, Hillsborough, Oakley Creek, St Johns, Northcote, Bayview, Totara Park, St Heliers, Glen Innes, Henderson, Massey.
